Students Selling Activity Tickets

In an attempt to raise funds for the furthering of various activties at the school, the Columbia Academy students, under the leadership of their Principal, Father Patnode, and with the guidance of the Mother's Club, have undertaken to sell "activity" tickets.

These tickets are good for five admittances to any of the Academy activities, viz. football, basketball, plays or band concert. It is left to the descretion of the holder of the ticket which activities he will attend. In addition, the purchaser is entitled to admittance to the finals of the annual Elocution Contest, to be held the later part of the school year.

Those students volunteering to sell "activity" tickets have been divided into teams, according to their respective parishes.

The students who voluteered to sell activity tickets have been grouped as follows:

Nativity Parish, Team No. 1: Robert Czizek (Captain), Howard Geisler, Robert Conzett, Claus Gollobitz, Quentin Conlin, John Hoffman, Edmond Kelly, Joseph Kelly, Maurice

MISSION RALLY TO BE HELD OCTOBER 18th

A mission rally for all students of Dubuque Catholic high schools, colleges and academies will be held Sunday, October 18th at St. Raphaels Cathedral. A public parade from school to church will be followed by an address by Archbishop Francis J. L. Beckman.

The rallying cry will be: "The Sacred Heart for the world and world for the Sacred Heart."

FATHER DUGGAN IS CHARITY OFFICER

Asks Students for Help

The Rev. R. P. Duggan, Professor of Civics and Economics at Columbia Academy, and Director of Catholic Charities of the Archdiocese of Dubuque was named secretary of the national organization of diocesan directors at their gathering held in connection with the National Conference of Catholic Charities last week at Wilkes Barre, Pa.

The organization of diocesan directors, representing dioceses in all parts of the country held special executive sessions for two days before the opening of the National Conference, devoting the time to the discussion of vital issues that were to come before the Conference: ways and means to meet the present unemployment emergency throughout the nation, the part the Catholic layman may play in effecting a constructive program of relief, state aid for needy families, creation of commissions entirely independent of public welfare organizations, the establishment of relief funds by the Federal Government through increased income taxes and bond issues, if necessary. An extensive program of public works by state and federal governments was given as the best solution of the country's unemployment problems. Other important subjects as Crime, Prohibition, Birth Control, Lay Activities, and Catholic Action received much attention.

Students Can Help

When asked how Columbia students might share in the charitable work of the diocese, Father Duggan

Father R. P. Duggan

said, "The students can greatly assist the Church in her efforts to bring relief to the needy by giving their wholehearted support and cooperation. Pope Pius XI in his latest encyclical appeals for a 'holy crusade of prayer, charity and sacrifice', for the relief of distressed peoples in a world effected by economic depression.

"The students can do their part by offering a daily prayer in behalf of the needy and suffering so that

Band Officers Named; New Members Join

An innovation is in effect for the Academy Band this year, with the appointment of band officers.

Father Kelly, head of the Academy Music Department, at the first full band rehearsal for the season, held on Oct 1, announced the following appointments of officers: Band Master, Professor Samuel Dovi; Second Leader, Carl Effinger; President, Howard Geisler; Vice-president, John O'Rourke; Secretary, Robert Czizek; Chief Musician, William Most; Sargent of Reeds, William Trow; Committee on Properties, Robert O'Rourke, Edward Goodman and Robert Berg; Librarians, John E. O'Brien and Robert Quirk.

New Members Enter

Fourteen experienced newcomers have been added to the personnel of the band, the complete membership being as follows:

Cornets—William Most, Howard Geisler, James O'Toole, William Keller, Wilmer Kieffer, Paul Gruber, Justin Kane, Louis Semper, and Howard Lynch; Baritones—John E. O'Brien, Theodore Tracey, Thomas Seymour and Robert Palen; Horns—William Koob, Frederick Rhoner, and

FRESHMEN TO BE GIVEN RECEPTION BY SENIORS

The Senior Reception for the Freshmen will be held Monday evening, October 12, in the gymnasium. Father Patnode and a reception committee composed of six seniors—John Corpstein, Dubuque, Robert Ernsdorff, Dubuque, Joseph Locke, Cuba City, Wis., James McDonald, Madison, Wis., Harry Ryan, Dubuque and James Supple, Chicago, Illinois, are in charge of the affair.

REORGANIZED CLUB'S PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

To Take Part In Five Plays

Thirty two students selected by Father Stemm, Director of Dramatics, from the seventy applicants, are members of the Academy Dramatic Club for the coming year. Other students who are under consideration will have their names announced later since the full quota for membership will be forty. The Dramatic Club has been reorganized and will be even more active than it was last year.

To Present One Act Plays

The first public performance will be held December 16, when three one act plays will be presented. All three plays, "The Finger of God", "Fiat Lux", and "The Unbroken Seal", are of high calibre, being outstanding in the short play field. "Fiat Lux", a miracle play made famous by the Greenwich Village Theatre group, will require the efforts of the Academy Choir as well as the Dramatic Club.

During Lent the College and Academy Dramatic organizations will jointly present a religious play, probably the celebrated "Joseph and His Brethren."

Big Academy Play

However, the main event of the Academy Club's season will be the

Mothers' Club Temporary Officers Made Permanent

The temporary officers of the Mothers Club were made permanent by the vote of all the mothers attending the meeting held in the Columbia Auditorium, Friday, September 25.

Those elected were: President, Mrs. George Most; Vice-President, Mrs. John Kerper; Treasurer, Mrs. F. A. O'Connor; Secretary, Mrs. H. Schroeder; members of the board of directors: from St. Columbkille's Parish, Mrs. Thomas Callahan; from St. Anthony's, Mrs. J. McMahon; from St. Raphael's Cathedral, Mrs. Patrick J. Norton; from St. Patrick's, Mrs. Edward Goodman, from St. Mary's, Mrs. Amelia Becker; from Holy Trinity, Mrs. Daniel O'Leary; from Sacred Heart, Mrs. A. J. Boland; from Holy Ghost, Mrs. Andrew Frommelt

Among the issues decided upon was to give an annual card party in the spring, to hold a bakery sale sometime near Thanksgiving and that the Mothers should assist their sons in all Academy activities, particularily in the sale of Activity Tickets.

Just before the meeting adjourned, the Kodak Club and its economical services were announced by the Chairman.

Our Priceless Privilege

The world has had little cause, during the last two years, to forget the depression under which it labors. Its tenacles, bringing pain and suffering, have reached to the farthest parts of the globe. They have stretched out from the thatched huts of India to the palatial mansions of Italy, from the cramped boathouses of China to the vast steppes of Russia. Here, in America, they have placed the heaviest of their burdens.

Thousands of youths unable to go to school, unable to obtain steady work, wander about searching for a means of livlihood. We, a chosen few, through the sacrifices of our parents, are enabled to continue with our education. We live in an oasis while others about us languish with thirst. And yet are we extending ourselves, adding additional effort to our studies in order to compensate, as far as we are able, for the sacrifices of our parents? Think of the countless youths, more deserving than many of us, standing by, yearning for our opportunity. Should we not study hard, throw ourselves with all earnestness into our work and thank God daily that we still have our priceless privilege—A Catholic High School Education?

The Value of Training

Training or a regard for practice of the virtue of Temperance is enforced in athletics for a very good reason; and its rules must be observed. Training develops the individual both mentually and physically. It develops his character and enables him to keep in the best physical condition possible.

Efficient and deficient training is apparent in the case of two individuals; one, when the game is over, is none the worse for his experience; the other is almost unable to walk from the field. Good training which consequently develope a good player requires reasonable regularity in one's habits. Also a suitable and well balanced diet and complete elimination of stimulants and narcotics. Engaging in physical activities demands your best efforts; keeping late hours and habitual smoking cannot help win games.

Good training insures good mental activity. A clear head is essential in order to win a game. The team that will use their heads can outwit their opponents by discovering their weaknesses. I wonder who among the Gubs will fail to pass the test.

A Man Worth Knowing

Students who know no more about him than the tale in their history book easily tire of having the acknowledged discoverer of America held up to them as a model. But the boy who has once really read the life story of Columbus can't help but admire the dogged perseverance he showed in discouragement and opposition, the Christian self-control with which he faced falsehood and disgrace.

It is no accident that our school is named after one who so well portrayed its ideals in his life. Have you read the life of this stout-hearted sailor?

A Thought, A Glance?

The bell pealed forth its imperial summons, and its ringing sounds had hardly died when the once peaceful corridor was filled with hurrying students. Their working day was finished. They looked eagerly forward to the recreation that followed. Swiftly they came until they met a connecting hall. One corner led to their sports, the other to the chapel. Would they acknowledge His presence by a thought, a glance, or would they think solely of their fun? Finally they reached the corner and laughingly, thoughtlessly, they swept on to their sports. Sorrowfully the beseeching King turned aside His longing glance. No one had greeted Him. Do you not think that they could have given Him a thought . . . a glance?

Triduum Commemorates Council of Ephesus

October, the month of the Holy Rosary, was wisely chosen by our Archbishop as the appropriate time for commemorating that famous Council of the Church held at Ephesus in 431. It is the earnest desire of His Excellency as well as the Holy Father that the faithful diligently pray during this period for the return of fallen-away Catholics to the fold of the Good Shepherd. In addresses to the student body, Father Striegel, and Father Craney, explained the meaning of the Triduum. The students were urged to receive Holy Communion and to offer their participation in the Sunday Community Mass for the success of the three days of special prayer.

The Rosary was an important factor in this public commemoration. The students learned in their instruction about the Triduum that just as the "soul of Christianity echoes and reechoes in the Rosary" so the teaching of the Council of Ephesus echoes and reechoes in every Hail Mary. Every time an individual recites devotedly a Hail Mary he professes his belief in the Incarnation and the Divine Motherhood of Mary.

Echoes From I D Latin

"ALL ROADS LEAD TO ROME"

The engineering skill of the Romans would often compete with modern contractors in the science of road building. Traveling was "down in the dumps" until some one became ambitious and declared war. The "viae" were built for strict military uses ,especially for the despatching of ammunition to the frontier, and for the massing of troops in the shortest time possible. Beginning with the first important acquisition of territory, the Appian Way, the world's greatest highway, was built.

In Italy the expense of road building was borne by the state, but in the conquered communities it was borne by the victims.

The engineers were persistent men for no natural obstacle was allowed to prevent the carrying out of the blue print. Hills were dug through, gorges and rivers crossed on arches of solid stone.

The surfaces were exceptionally smooth, and there were gutters dug to carry off rain and melting snow.

The roads were wide enough to pass a woman driver . . . maybe. For pedestrians there were resting benches from which Chief Gielli couldn't order bums. There were also drinking fountains.

Along these roads, shrewd men of business built inns, but they were not patronized because of their wretchedness and filthiness. Horses were kept under the same roof as you . . . and often times the beds were not made from one day to the other.

—Dean Smith, '35.

La Crosse Ties Duhawks; Score in Last-Minute Rally

Columbia College Duhawks, with a hard-won victory in their grasp let it slip through their fingers in the final minutes of play when Cashman, fleet La Crosse quarterback scored by the aerial route.

The work of Boland and Ropele for Columbia furnished the opponents with much trouble, while Meneguin carried the brunt of the blocking duty.

La Crosse threatened many times but the Columbia line composed largely of ex-Academy men held. It was not until the final quarter that the visitors began to make yardage. Tired and weary from a twenty five minute third quarter caused by a stop watch living up to the name, the Purple and Gold warriors let what should have been a sure victory end in a 6-6 tie.

Warriors Win Over Teenies

A frantic dash in the last two minutes of play was the margin of difference between two strong defensive teams as the Little Warriors took the Teenies into camp 6 to 0 last Monday. So close was the margin that after the try for point failed there was just time for one play, the kick off.

So evenly were the teams matched in defense that neither could advance the ball much until the winning drive came. Twice the Teenies got "breaks" when the Warrior safety man fumbled a punt and it was recovered by alert Teenie ends; but the boarders couldn't produce driving power. The Warriors likewise failed on their other scoring opportunity.

But in the closing minutes, the Teenies passed recklessly in their own territory. One of these heaves was intercepted by a watchful backfield; somebody spun off tackle; there were two drives through center, and it was all over but the shouting.

Academy Faces Aquin; Expect Real Battle

Coach Cretzmeyer's "Gubs" face some real competition when they meet Aquin High of Freeport at Loras field tomorrow.

Other than that three veterans have returned, not much is known of the Freeport machine.

Columbia also has three men who saw action against Aquin last year.

Aquin lost to Columbia last year by a score of 14 to 0 but that does not guarantee this year's outcome.

The probable lineups for tomorrow's game are as follows:

Academy Gubs Defeat St. Xavier Gridmen

The Columbia Academy "Gubs" opened their 1931 football season by defeating St. Xavier High of Dyersville, 32 to 0, here at Loras field Saturday, Sept. 26.

Co-captain McDonald and John Corpstein led the ouslaught with fourteen first downs.

The Gubs line, led by Co-captain Pinger, coordinated so well, that the visitors were unable to garnish but two first downs, and those by the air route.

McDonald made two touchdowns in the first half and Corpstein made one extra point. As soon as the third period was under way Corpstein tore off tackle for another touchdown.

Toward the end of the period McDonald was tackled and on the fall sprained his ankle.

At the start of the last period Coach Cretzmeyer put in the members of the Gubs second and third team. They advanced the ball within the 5-yard line, when the game ended.

Hummel and Keffeler showed up well for St. Xaviers.

RUSSELLERS BATTER WAY TO 19-0 VICTORY

Displaying a high powered offensive, which scored in every period but the last, the Russellers easily defeated the Dodgers last Friday, by the decisive score 19 to 0, although a fighting Dodger team outplayed them in the last quarter.

The first Russeller score came when a series of off tackle and end plays resulted in a forty yard drive and a touchdown, Weldon scoring through right tackle. O'Brien converted the point after touchdown on a spinner play.

The second Russeller touchdown was the result of another concerted drive, in which a pass and two nice spinner plays netted the Russellers about thirty five yards. Then O'Brien scored on a sweeping end run. They failed to get the point.

The last touchdown was the result of an intercepted pass and Pohl's end run which ended over the goal line. They again failed to make the point.

The game ended with the Dodgers on the Russellers twenty yard line, after a march of about thiryt yards.

RUSSELLERS, DODGERS IN 6 TO 6 DEADLOCK

In the initial game of the intramural football league last week, the Russellers and the Dodgers, the two heavyweight teams, renewed their rivalry on the Clarke field gridiron, but with futile efforts, for the game ended in a 6 to 6 deadlock.

The game started with the Dodgers kicking low and short to the Russellers and when the receiver was finally tackled the ball lay almost in midfield.

This advantage was short lived for some costly fumbles, a bad kick and a couple of penalties gave the Dodgers the ball on the Russellers' one yard line. On the second play Loras Kenny, Dodger fullback, carried it over for a touchdown. The Dodgers failed to score the point after touchdown.

The rest of this quarter passed uneventfully as did the first part of the second quarter, but toward the end of the half the Russellers got their touchdown. Pohl made a nice return of a Dodger punt; there were a couple of short gains and then Weldon climaxed this drive with a twelve yard run through tackle for a touchdown. An attempted place kick for the point after touchdown failed.

The rest of the period was a see-saw battle with neither team having a decided advantage.

The third period was of little interest outside of a completed pass by the Dodgers which almost resulted in the "would-have-been" winning touchdown.

The game was called shortly after this on account of the boarders curfew, which demands that they be in the study hall from five to six.

Farley Falls Before Columbia Squad

Last Saturday saw nearly every "Gub" man in action when the Purple and Gold defeated Farley, 26 to 14.

Columbia won the toss and within five minutes after receiving the kickoff scored their first touchdown with Voelker around right end. Corpstein plunged over left guard for the extra point. Again Farley kicked and as the second quarter started Corpstein plowed through the line for Columbia's second marker and extra point.

Farley Counts on Pass

Farley, not to be outdone, scored their first touchdown on a beautiful pass from Kennedy to Heitz. Ronan made good the extra point on a drop kick.

For the third time Farley kicked off, and with a succession of line plunges and a pass Copstein again crossed St. Joseph's goal.

Corpstein Runs

The second half opened with Columbia on the long end of a 20 to 7 score. That lead was increased in the third quarter when Corpstein, for the third time, crossed the Farley goal for a touchdown.

The scoring came to a close when, in the last quarter, Farley, on a long pass from Ronan to Kennedy scored the final touchdown. Again Ronan made the extra point on a drop-kick

The St. Joseph's eleven started down the field in a series of line plunges, but the final whistle halted the game as Farley had the ball within the shadow of the Columbia goal-posts.

Ronan was outstanding on the Farley eleven by his passing and kicking, while Corpstein's field running made him prominent for the "Gubs".

TEENIE WEENIES LOSE IN UPHILL STRUGGLE

In the first game of the lightweight league, the Midgets garnered a hard fought 18 to 0 victory over the Teenie Weenies, last year's undefeated Intra Mural Lightweight Champions.

For about ten or fifteen plays the ball was se-sawed up and down the field, then a pretty punt by Kenney was fumbled and it was the Midgets ball on the Teenies forty yard line. An end run by Kenney brought the ball within scoring distance, and a neat reverse play put the pigskin over; but the Midgets failed to make the point after touchdown.

The Teenies received but were forced to punt. In another series of drives, the Midgets again put the ball over on a pass to Keffer. Again in the fourth quarter, the Midgets ran the ball within scoring distance and another reverse by Kenney made the count 18-0.

OCTOBER DEVOTIONS HELD AT ACADEMY

The Academy students are observing in a very special way the month of October which is dedicated to Mary, the Queen of the Holy Rosary.

Each morning finds the Resident students assembled before the altar where they will begin their day with participation in the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Thus, in a unified group they will begin daily to more effectively "put on" Christ.

Each evening the Columbia boarding unit will reassemble in the chapel to offer homage to their Spiritual Mother. Around her altar, resplendent with glowing candles, they will sing a hymn in her praise. Then in a body they will pray Her chosen prayer—the Holy Rosary. This beautiful pledge of loyalty will be sealed with another hymn.

On Sundays and Fridays there will be added solemnity. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament will be the center of the devotion. Before Christ Eucharistically enthroned, the students will say the Rosary, the Litany of the Blessed Virgin, and the prayer to St. Joseph.

Most, Lawson, Becker, Crubel Are Kodak Heads

The 1931-32 Kodak club officers, elected last May, were officially installed at the first club meeting of this year, on Wednesday, Sept. 30. William Most, '32, of Dubuque, is President; Robert Lawson, '33, Wesley, Iowa, Vice President; John Becker, "33, Dubuque, Secretary; and Hubert Crubel, '32, Bloomington, Wisconsin, Treasurer.

At the meeting Father Striegel, Faculty Moderator of the organization, briefly outlined the program of the club in these words: "The aim of the club is to inculcate in its members an appreciation of what constitutes a good picture."

Father Striegel, in announcing the plan for the coming year, said that there would be two outings, one this fall and another in the spring.

God may give them abundance of gifts and graces to maintain body and soul; also in behalf of a distressed world so that their may be a quick return to better economic conditions, and in behalf of the charity and social workers who are laboring under great handicaps, so that they may receive the strength and encouragement to continue their noble work of bringing relief to the poor.

"The students may bring joy to others and happiness to themselves by performing corporal works of mercy. The day students could on their initiative go about their friends and neighbors and collect used and discarded clothing and bring them to the Catholic Charities where they will be distributed. Or the students could organize into groups, obtain a truck, and solicit the homes to obtain clothing in sections of the city.

"By making a little sacrifice each day or week, by abstaining from luxuries, as candy, movies, etc., the students can give much money to charity. The student might think his contribution too small, but the price of a movie might save a baby's life by providing a couple days supply of milk to him. For our little mite, given in the spirit of charity, will bring its reward. As Pope Pius XI says, 'This encyclical is dated Oct. 2, this being a holy day dedicated to the Guardian Angels who will record in the Book of Life all good deeds for suffering children'."

Much new music has been provided and with such a full instrumentation the band looks forward to a most successful season.

ACADEMY CRUSADERS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

John O'Rourke. '32, is president; Andrew Balk, '33, vice-president; Norbert Willging, '34, treasurer; and Robert Czizek, '32, secretary, of the local unit of the Catholic Student Mission Crusade following the election of officers, Monday, October 5. at the organization meeting, which was attended by some seventy boys.

These officers will serve as the Program committee to arrange details for the meetings, to be held every two weeks.

Delegate Will Report

At the next meeting, John O'Rourke, the only one of the three Academy delegates to the National Convention at Niagara Falls, N. Y., who is left at the Academy, will give his impression of the convention. All the members are asked to get some "background" by becoming familiar with at least one missionary publication.

ACADEMY JOTTINGS

Robert Sando, who was taken seriously ill shortly after the opening of school, has recovered sufficiently to be removed to his home at Elmhurst, Ill. Bob left last Wednesday, cherishing the hope of returning at mid year.

Robert Lawson is a regular pest for interference—but it's all on the football field and to the team's opponents. Otherwise he's famous for his spirit of cooperation.

Two Dubuquers, Robert O'Rourke and Francis O'Connor, are added to the Cee Ay staff with this issue. O'Connor is a Junior and O'Rourke a Sophomore.

THE WASTE BASKET

Unlike R. H. L.'s, our last line comes first—and it is a steady line: Some fellows work terrifically hard to get out of doing their work.

"Chicken stealing again, Rastus?" demanded the judge sternly. "Have you anything to say?"

"Deed, yes, Judge, it's de fault of mah high-up ancestors."

"How so?"

"Well, mah ancestors dun come over in de Mayflower,, an' evah since ah was born ah has an uncontrolable desire foh Plymouth Rocks!"

The members of the class of '35 are somewhat deficient. They are not the Leist at Columbia; but there's too much Lagan and they are not Strong and Swift enough. It makes one Roth that there is so little Klaas to them. There's too much Ham and more of a Quirk in them; in fact they're a bit Baum (y).

In comparison, how could the Sophs help being a Goodman? Their Dress is well Aird, and their Kaptain is a good Link to keep Lightcap in order. Sometimes they may go into a Spinner, but about them there's mighty little Jungk.

MISSIONARY TALKS AND SHOWS FILMS

Father Ranahgan, a priest of St. Columbans Foreign Mission Society, and a native of Ireland, spoke to the boys of the Acedemy on Friday, Sept. 25 on vocations.

The following evening he presented in the auditorium a movie describing the missionary work, and some high lights of the movement. Dubuque delegates to the National Convention of the Crusade were wildly applauded when they appeared on the screen.

Fr. Ranahgan not only spoke here but at the other parochial schools. He came to Dubuque at the request of His Excellency Archbishop Francis J. L. Beckman.

REORGANIZED CLUB'S PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

production of "Clarence" on April 8. "Clarence" is from the capable pen of Booth Tarkington, Pulitzer Prize winner and glorifier of the Hoosier State, and has enjoyed success both as a play and as a silent film. As a proof of the excellence of the play the original cast stands as testimony. Alfred Lunt, Helen Hayes, Elsie Mackay and Glenn Hunter were the featured players in the original production, and Wallace Ried and Lois Wilson starred in the silent film made by Paramount.

With such a program planned for the year, it is easy for local audiences to appreciate Father Stemm's well founded desire to produce artistic plays without the curse of commercialism.

Partly as a result of his study of Dramatics at Northwestern University this summer, Father Stemm is changing some of the functions of the organization. Meetings will be held once a week during the Thursday assembly, and all members will be required to enter at least one division of the Elocution contest, humorous, dramatic or oratorical.

The following have been appointed in charge of the stage work:

Student Director of Dramatics—Robert Ernsdorff.
Stage Manager—Harry McLean.
Electrician—Peter Propsom.
Assistant—Robert Schwoegler.
Property Master—Willian Poinsett.
